Some have had to leave Blogging because they are not making it in Blogging.

A guy told me a few days ago that he had to leave Blogging and start running Ads for Organisations because he finds it difficult to stay consistent with Blogging.

I want to demystify those mysteries. I want to talk about how to boost SEO ranking in Nigeria. Lets do this together.

If you've been blogging for a while, chances are some of your old content is outdated or underperforming.

But instead of writing brand-new articles, editing blog posts can help you boost SEO ranking faster and more effectively.

In this guide, you'll learn why blogs are important for SEO, how to optimize them, and the best practices for refreshing old content to improve search performance.

Why Blogs Are Important for SEO

Search engines love fresh, relevant content. That's why blog posts improve SEO by:

- Increasing keyword opportunities
- Targeting long-tail search queries
- Keeping your website active and updated
- Building internal linking structures
- Attracting backlinks from other sites

A regularly updated blog helps Google see your site as active and authoritative — key signals that can improve rankings.

SEO Content Writing for Beginners

If you're new to SEO writing, focus on three essentials:

1. Keyword Research – Find terms your audience searches for
2. Search Intent – Understand what the reader is looking for
3. Clear Formatting – Use headings, short paragraphs, and bullet points

Beginner SEO writing is about creating content that's both helpful for users and easy for search engines to understand.

How to Find Blog Topics for SEO

Coming up with ideas that rank starts with knowing what your audience wants. Use tools like:

- Google Search Suggestions
- AnswerThePublic
- Ubersuggest
- Ahrefs or SEMrush (for more advanced users)
- Reddit and Quora threads

Look for common questions in your niche. Then build blog posts that offer real answers in simple language.

How to Write SEO-Friendly Content in Nigeria

Writing for SEO doesn't mean stuffing keywords. Follow these best practices:

- Use your main keyword in the title, URL, and first paragraph
- Add variations and related terms naturally throughout the post
- Include H2 and H3 subheadings for structure
- Link to other relevant internal and external resources
- Optimise for readability with short paragraphs and bullet points
- Use alt text for images with relevant keywords

This structure helps readers and search engines easily understand your content.

How to Optimise Your Blog Posts for SEO

If you already have blog posts published, here's how to optimize them:

- Update old data or references
- Improve the headline with relevant keywords
- Add more relevant subheadings and images
- Include internal links to newer articles
- Rewrite unclear or outdated sections
- Reoptimize your meta title and description

These simple edits can revive old posts and bring them back to the top of search results.

How Do I Update Old Blog Posts for SEO?

1. Start by identifying which posts need updating. Use tools like:
2. Google Search Console – Check pages with declining traffic
3. Google Analytics – Identify posts with high bounce rates
4. Ahrefs/Semrush – Find pages with potential but low ranking

Once you've picked a post:

1. Recheck keyword opportunities
2. Add recent statistics, tools, or case studies
3. Tighten your content for clarity and structure
4. Ensure mobile responsiveness and fast load times
5. Then resubmit the URL to Google using Search Console.

Best Practices for Blog Writing That Ranks

Follow these blog writing best practices to improve every post:

1. Focus each article on one main topic

2. Keep sentences short and simple
3. Use visuals to support complex ideas
4. End with a clear CTA or next step for the reader
5. Promote your post on social channels to get early traffic
